RISK PROFILE: MODERATE-HIGH

- This portfolio holds more equity exposure than a medium risk portfolio but less than a high-risk portfolio. In turn the expected volatility is higher than a medium risk portfolio, but less than a high-risk portfolio. The probability of losses is higher than that of a medium risk portfolio, but less than a high-risk portfolio and the expected potential long term investment returns could therefore be higher than a medium risk portfolio.
- Where the asset allocation contained in this MDD reflects offshore exposure, the portfolio is exposed to currency risks.
- The portfolio is exposed to equity as well as default and interest rate risks.
- Therefore, it is suitable for medium to long term investment horizons.

FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY AT 31 OCT 2025

The October Effect, a psychological phenomenon where investors anticipate equity markets to decline in October, was disproven last month. Despite its reputation as a month of volatility and crisis, October 2025 delivered solid gains for global equities (MSCI World +2.0% MoM/+20.2% YTD), albeit with its characteristic volatility as the month saw wild swings in equity markets. US markets, in particular, extended their strong 2025 run, buoyed by better-than-expected 3Q25 earnings from US corporates and continued optimism around artificial-intelligence-driven growth. Investor sentiment was further lifted by hopes of additional US Federal Reserve (Fed) rate cuts—which did materialise late in the month—and an easing of US-China tariff tensions. Meanwhile, concerns around the ongoing US government shutdown, stretched valuations, and geopolitical risks had limited market impact. The JSE recorded its eighth consecutive monthly advance with the FTSE JSE All Share Index (ALSI) up 1.2% MoM (+29.9% YTD), while the Capped SWIX ended 1.8% higher (+33.4% YTD). Financial counters were the outperformers in October with the Fini-15 jumping by 7.3% MoM (+10.2% YTD). It was followed by listed property (+6.3% MoM/+15.5% YTD) and industrials (Indi-25 +1.5% MoM/+21.6% YTD). In stark contrast to the past few months, commodity-linked shares were the underperformers (Resi-10 -5.4% MoM/+104.8% YTD) – the first monthly decline since February.
